

REMARKSRegarding Specification:

A systematic typographical error is corrected in the "Description of the Drawings" section, paragraph numbers 20-23, generally changing "pressure relief valve" to "pressure valve assembly" in order to properly identify the drawings as illustrated.

The term "regulator" was added to paragraph 26, page 7, to further describe the pressure relief or control valve (39). This addition is not new matter because it can be found in original claim 7 of this CIP application, is used interchangeably with the term "control" in the parent application (see par. 10 of parent which states: "reverse flowing valve to control fuel pressure").

Regarding Claim Amendments:

Claim 7 is currently amended to correct a typographical error deleting the term "regulator" and adding the term "assembly," thus complying with antecedent requirements.

Claims 18 and 19 are currently amended to correct formatting errors by adding the term "and" to each claim.
